February 21, 2018; October 15, 2018; September 25, 2019, and April 27, 2020, for

2     employee (whether weekly, twice a month, or on any other schedule), and 3     before he takes any other distributions from the business, or pays personal 4     expenses to third parties from the business, he must pay the associated 5     federal employment taxes first—and if he cannot afford to do so, he must 6     refrain from making the payment or allowing anyone else to do so, whether 7     by paper check, electronic transfer, or other means; and

8           b)     on or before the 15th and the last day of every month, i.e., two 9     times a month, Mr. Goodrich must provide the Department of Justice 10    attorney assigned to the matter (currently the undersigned counsel E.
11    Carmen Ramirez) and the IRS Revenue Officer assigned to the matter
12    (currently Nelli Ayrapetyan) documentation from his payroll services 13    provider showing the amounts owed in federal employment taxes, and an 14    account statement printed from the internet or other documentation from his 15    business's bank or credit union account showing what tax or other payments 16    have been made through the account; and

17          c)     on or before the last day of every month, Mr. Goodrich must 18    file a status report to the Court, on the public docket, attesting, under 19    penalties of perjury, to the aggregate amount he has paid his employees 20

1 (including his wife and himself), the amount he owes in employment taxes
2 on that compensation, and the amount in taxes he has paid.

3 These terms shall remain in place for at least an additional six months 4 beyond the date of this Order. The United States shall submit a status report within 5 six months opining on whether the terms should be lifted or otherwise modified.

6 IT IS SO ORDERED.
